Not guilty: Jury clears cop of rape allegation

A POLICE officer accused of raping a vulnerable woman at her father's home in Harlow has walked free from court after being cleared of the charge this week.

The jury of eight men and four women took just two hours at the end of a week-long trial to find Afolabi Afolabi (30) not guilty of rape and assault by penetration.

During the trial at Chelmsford Crown Court the defendant, who was a serving officer with the Hertfordshire Constabulary at the time of the alleged offence, admitted the woman had performed a sex act on him but claimed it had been at her instigation.

Afolabi's mother wept uncontrollably as the jury announced their verdict on Tuesday and Judge David Turner told her son he was free to leave.

During the trial the court was told that Afolabi, from Luton, had arrested the 22-year-old woman outside her mother's house in South Mimms in July last year after she had caused damage to the property.

He had taken her to Hatfield Police Station where he was said to have kept her under observation before volunteering to take her to her father's house in Harlow

COURT REPORTER

He then texted her before returning to the house the next day. The prosecution alleged it was during that visit the offences took place.

Prosecutor Andrew Jackson described the alleged victim as a "mentally vulnerable" alcoholic who had been diagnosed with borderline personality disorder and bulimia nervosa.

She claimed Afolabi had raped and sexually assaulted her, but throughout the trial he maintained that she had instigated sexual activity.

Giving evidence in court, he said she had put her hand on his chest and asked for sexual intercourse.

He said he told her he did not have any condoms and was "shocked" when the woman started rubbing his groin in a bid to seduce him. However, he admitted that he had then started rubbing her back.

She had then fallen onto a sofa, he told the jury, and claimed he had landed on top of her. She removed her leggings and knickers before unzipping his trousers and performing the sex act.

He said it all lasted about "three and a half minutes" before he got up and left the house.

Woman arrested following flat fire

A 31-YEAR-OLD woman has been arrested on suspicion of arson and intent to endanger life following a flat fire in Harlow.

The woman was arrested at the scene of the blaze in Quarry Spring on Tuesday evening after firefighters told police they suspected the blaze had been started deliberately.

Yesterday (Wednesday) a police spokesman told the Star the suspect remained in police custody at Harlow Police Station.

Fire crews were called to the flat block - known locally as the "Banana Flats" - at around 8.30pm on Tuesday.

Wearing breathing apparatus, they used two hose reels to extinguish the flames in the ground floor maisonette before clearing the property of smoke with a high-pressured fan.

No-one was injured in the blaze, although the it is understood neighbouring flats were temporarily evacuated by the fire service as a precautionary measure.

Diabetes roadshow rolls into town centre

MORE than 100 people have been referred to their GP after visiting Diabetes UK's healthy living roadshow in Harlow town centre this week.

The mobile testing unit rolled into Broad Walk on Tuesday morning, offering free diabetes risk assessment tests to shoppers.

Almost 200 people took up the offer, with around 65 per cent of those tested being referred to their GP for further advice after being found to have a moderate to high risk of developing the disease.

The roadshow - which was run in partnership with private healthcare firm Bupa - also offered advice and encouragement on positive lifestyle changes such as adopting a healthy diet low in fat, salt and sugar and taking regular physical activity.

Sharon Roberts, eastern regional manager for Diabetes UK said: "Up to 80 per cent of cases of Type 2 diabetes could be delayed or prevented with healthy lifestyle changes."

"We wanted to make people aware of their risk and support them in making the right choices to improve their health and reduce their chance of developing Type 2 diabetes, which is a life-long condition."

Thief makes off with charity box

POLICE in Harlow are hunting a thief who stole a charity collection box from an amusement arcade in the town centre.

The man walked into Cashino, in East Gate, and removed the box from a table.

He then concealed it under his jumper and left the premises.

The theft happened shortly after 6.15am on Friday, July 12.

Officers investigating the incident have released a CCTV image, left, of a man they want to question.

Anyone who recognises the man in the image, or who has information about the theft, should contact PC Mark Smith at Harlow on the non-emergency 101 number or phone Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Councillor Paul Schroder, cabinet member for regeneration, said: "In the last few months we have been listening to the concerns of both residents and businesses and believe the best decision is to increase existing longer stay car park charges so the free parking hour can be retained.

HAVE YOUR SAY

www.harlowstar.co.uk

"The average increase in long stay car park charges will be just 5p.

This change in heart will ensure the council's annual budget remains balanced and will help us continue to provide services."

But Tory councillor Russell Perrin told the Star increasing charges for long-stay motorists would prove just as unpopular as scrapping the free hour.

"This is a good example of this Labour administration's knee-jerk decision-making," he said.

"There was no need for them to try and balance the books by hiking up parking fees."

"Five pence doesn't sound like much but it's an unnecessary stealth tax that will have a big impact on motorists' expenditure over time."

"If they had adopted the budget amendments we suggested earlier this year they could have kept the free hour, kept fees the same and kept people happy."

READERSLETTERS*People behind community project deserve applause

SIR, Further to the letter in last week's Star about the community allotment project in Five Acres, I also live in the neighbourhood and can say the area concerned was covered in long grass, nettles and brambles - as well as being a loo for the local dogs.

I did not know the organisers of this project but after speaking to them I can only admire their efforts on behalf of any - and I mean any - of the local residents who would benefit from the fruits of their labours.

While I agree that perhaps it should have been done through the correct channels, how many years would that have taken?

These people should be applauded, not slated by narrow-minded people who can probably afford to buy whatever they may need for themselves.

I wish them all the best in their efforts.
Mick Westby
Five Acres, Harlow

I've been offered free veg by allotment organisers

SIR, I live in Five Acres and have been very impressed with the community allotment that has been put on overgrown wasteland.

I used to go blackberry picking in that area and when I recently walked past it I saw they have made a great improvement to the area... and there is still lots of room to go blackberry picking.

My son was invited to help with the project and it has done him a lot of good. Instead of staying in and watching TV, he has been out in the fresh air digging, planting and learning good skills. It is lovely how they have got lots of children involved in a good project.

I am impressed with how much they have done and I have even been offered free vegetables that they have produced.

I hope they will be given all the support they can to keep this project going and hope to see more in the future.

Julie Corless
Five Acres, Harlow

Council should employ a night-time traffic warden

SIR, It was reported in the Star a couple of weeks ago that Harlow Council would have to make up a shortfall if the free parking hour was retained.

All they have to do is employ a nightshift traffic warden. He/she will have a car that is not used at night and he/she could then tour Harlow issuing fixed penalty tickets £60 to all vehicles parking on pavements, grass verges and blocking dropped kerbs.

The council would easily recoup their nightshift payments and lost parking

"THIS picture was taken a few weeks ago in my daughter's back garden in Stackfield," writes reader Liz Ward. "The little wren had made a nest under the wood cladding at the back of her house and I managed to get this nice shot while it was busy feeding its brood."

If you have a photo taken in Harlow you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high-resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

charges.

Whilst on the subject of charges, it has been reported in the press after court cases that is illegal to raise funds other than for traffic improvement through parking charges.

Perhaps the council would like to publish the breakdown of said charges. I won't hold my breath, but maybe our MP may be able to throw some light on this.

name and address supplied

There's another reason why forums aren't well-attended

SIR, Gary Roberts' letter in last week's Star - 'Much is promised at forums but little is delivered' - hit the nail almost squarely on the head.

I chaired that tenants' forum and to have only 14 attend such an important event which had been widely advertised and to which we had invited all the contractors involved in the decent homes programme was more than disappointing.

I agree with Gary that the root cause of tenant involvement at any level is, as he said, "the council promising much but delivering little".

He will recall from previous forums that Harlow Council has brought itself out of the Government's subsidy arrangement and now all its rent revenue should go directly to the HRA. It is this that will fund the decent homes programme.

The Housing Revenue Account is a business which has an annual income of £70m rent revenue and a £209m 30-year debt. The underpinning business plan is, to say the least, inadequate. It does not have an asset management plan or an up-to-date major works process to support it.

The business plan did not follow the agreed process of going through the Finance Standards Panel and on to the Housing Standards Board. Because of this tenants informed the chief executive officer that we were in dispute with our landlord.

I will not go into the council's four-page response as we have not yet decided on our next course of action, but because we had asked that senior officers and portfolio holders be held to account and resign we are told that we are being deliberately provocative or vexatious.

The council also informed us there was no appeal and the investigating officer did not even bother to sign her report. So Gary, how's that for another reason for tenants not to get involved?

Mike Carr, Rundells, Harlow

It's politics that will count at the next general election

SIR, I sympathise to some extent with Steve Stopplecamp with regard to the desirability of a local candidate for Parliament (Letters, August 1), but in practice it is not so simple.

Suzi Stride can speak for herself but I address general principles. An MP has many functions, of which I pick out three of the most important.

The first is to represent his or her constituency and constituents in all relevant spheres, the second to contribute to the making of laws and decisions on the running of the country and the third, if a backbencher, to hold the government to account for its performance in applying those laws and decisions.

For the first of these a local connection is obviously important. For the latter two it may be less so; other qualities may be more significant and that is a judgement that candidate selectors have to make.

In the current cycle the national Labour Party decreed that Harlow should have an all-woman shortlist. I will not go into the merits or otherwise of that decision but, in the event, although we have many able women members of Harlow Labour Party, none of them wished at the present time to pursue a possible Parliamentary career.

So, as I noted in my last letter, the selection process was carried out fully in accordance with the rules from those who did put forward their names and Suzi Stride came out top. Incidentally, many working class people can and do go to Cambridge these days. Is that not good?

I should also point out that the Tories have never had a candidate of local origin. Anyone remember Jerry Hayes? Robert Halfon was originally an outsider. While I disagree profoundly with his politics, having been selected as candidate he persevered - even after defeat - until he won in 2010 and is now very well established in Harlow.

At the next election the crucial issues will be the policies of the parties both national and local, not the origins of the candidates. Ongoing debate about those policies is what is needed in order to have the best informed electorate possible.

If Mr Stopplecamp can contribute to that process, he will serve a valuable function.

Frank Jackson
Kingsmoor Road, Harlow

I would sell my soul to the Devil to find employment

SIR, I read with absolute disbelief that Kier Harlow workers are thinking of striking because of a small change to their pay dates (Star, August 1).

I think these workers should reflect on the what life was like before they got their cushy jobs. They also need to remember that there are thousands who would jump at having a job right now and whose only concern would be that they actually have an extremely good wage and not the pittance the DWP pay to single men.

I for one would give my soul to Satan for a job with Kier. In fact I would sell my soul right now for any job simply so I can regain some self-worth and self-esteem rather than be the reclusive unemployment has made me.

I want to become part of society again and to actually have the will to live instead of seeing no future.

LADIES' MAN: Dan Osbourne, centre, with ladies - and The Only Way Is Essex star Dan Osbourne was certainly not short of female attention when he paid a surprise visit to a local nursery.

The only way is Blossoms for TOWIE star Dan

HE'S known for his toned physique and way with the ladies - and The Only Way Is Essex star Dan Osbourne was certainly not short of female attention when he paid a surprise visit to a local nursery.

The male model and former semi-pro footballer chatted with staff and mums as he was shown around Blossoms Nursery in Thornwood Common by manager Bobbi Chana.

The dad-to-be then posed for photos with parents before joining staff and toddlers for a barbecue, balloon launch and games in the garden.

Ms Chana told the Star: "We had an amazing time - parents and children all had lots of fun supporting our fun day.

"Parents brought along blankets to pitch up a spot and enjoy the music and yummy food!

"It was lovely to see Dan Osbourne, who came to show his support for our nursery and has promised to visit us again."

Union row erupts over Labour PPC

AN extraordinary row has erupted over Labour parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride's union credentials after the secretary of Harlow TUC branded her "Silent Suzy" in an email sent to local trade unionists.

Accusing Ms Stride of failing to support his group's campaign against the so-called 'bedroom tax' and speak out against the closure of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice service, David Forman urged TUC members to withdraw their support for her as a candidate at the next general election.

The email went on to criticise her membership of the New Labour pressure group Progress and blast her "silence" on issues including the closure of Tesco's fresh food depot in Flex Meadow and job losses at Harlow's now closed Comet store.

Putting forward a motion of

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

no confidence in Ms Stride as Labour's prospective parliamentary candidate for Harlow, Mr Forman's email concluded: "Given the lack of her individual support for union policies and the People's refuses to support her in the general election of 2015."

But in an email seen by the Star, trade union Unite - which endorsed Ms Stride during the local candidate selection process back in 2011 - has hit back at Mr Forman's accusations with a stout defence of her activities as PPC for Harlow.

Accusing him of launching an "unmeasured and vicious attack" on Ms Stride, Unite political director Jennie Formby wrote: "Suzy has done everything she is able to given the time available for someone who works for a living, and with the platforms available to someone who is not the sitting MP."

The Star approached Ms Stride for comment but she had not responded by the time the paper went to press yesterday (Wednesday afternoon).

Arrest made in Rent Team fraud inquiry

A 25-YEAR-OLD man has been arrested by police investigating allegations of fraudulent activity at Harlow-based lettings agency The Rent Team.

The man, who used to live in the North Weald area but is now based in Leicestershire, was arrested on suspicion of committing fraud last week.

He has since been released on police bail until September 27 pending further enquiries.

Investigating officers have seized a number of items relating to the business in West Gate - which is now closed - and are working closely with Trading Standards in what a force spokeswoman said was expected to be a "protracted enquiry".

Police appeal over ambulance smash

POLICE have appealed for witnesses to a road crash involving an ambulance in which five people - including a pregnant woman - were injured.

Officers were called to the A414 Epping Road near the junction with Pensons Lane in Ongar on Friday morning following a collision between an ambulance and a Ford Fiesta car.

Four people were taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital while a fifth was airlifted to Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

Anyone with information about circumstances leading up to the collision should contact PC Sam Nason at the Chigwell road policing office on 101.

NOSTALGIA

Velodrome was New Town's cycling hub

CYCLING has again taken the nation by storm following Chris Froome's Tour de France win earlier this month, but Harlow has always been something of a Mecca for everything two-wheeled.

Even before the town's impressive network of cycle paths was completed, Harlow boasted its very own velodrome, which was built in 1976 after the cycle club of the time requested a grant of over £6,000 to help complete the project.

In September that year the grand opening and ribbon-cutting ceremony took place, in the presence of director of the National Sports Council Walter Winterbottom, Harlow

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

MP Stan Newens and council chairman Bert Phelps.

The first competitive ride at the Edinburgh Way track was completed by Neil Dyker, the then national junior sprint champion, who recorded an impressive 12.5 seconds for a 200 metres time trial.

Harlow Cycling Club, which was formed in 1956, took a leading role in promoting the track and ensuring it was at the forefront of the sport.

The velodrome hosted a number of major events, including an Olympic international track meeting in 1979 and the promotion of the English Schools Cycling Association Championships in 1989.

However, much to the disappointment of Harlow Cycling Club and many other cycling enthusiasts, the velodrome was sold to Longmans Group in 1993 for £3m.

A replacement indoor velodrome was promised for the town but plans for a new track never came to fruition.

Do you remember the velodrome or were you a member of the Harlow Cycling Club during this time? If so, contact Nostalgia at 6 West Gate, Harlow, Essex, CM20 1JW, email star@hertsexnews.co.uk or call (01279) 400577.

Tasty treats served up in PAH canteen

Hospital food often gets a bad rap - but for PAH's first-ever kitchen superintendant, taste and quality was always top of the agenda.

Maurice Lester (79), of Shawbridge, was the man in charge of the stove when the hospital's maternity ward opened in 1963, and can remember serving up mouth-watering treats including cottage pie and fish 'n' chips to staff and patients.

Maurice, pictured in the centre of the photo with the rest of his team, remembers PAH as a "wonderful, friendly place to work."

"I've got some fantastic memories of working there," he said. "I had a great team and all the staff were very friendly."

"We even had a staff cricket team and I used to play wicket. "I was always proud of the food we used to serve up. It certainly went down well with everyone!"

NEWS IN BRIEF

All aboard steam train for fun with Peppa Pig and pals

FAMILIES can let off steam this weekend when children's TV favourite Peppa Pig pays a special visit to the Epping Ongar Railway.

Youngsters will have an opportunity to meet Peppa herself at the EOR's award-winning heritage station in Ongar, where the cuddly cartoon character will be making multiple appearances across Saturday and Sunday.

The six-mile track - named Heritage Railway of the Year earlier this year - is the longest of its kind in Essex, and gives railway enthusiasts and history buffs the opportunity to step back in time and travel on a full-size steam or diesel-hauled train.

Tickets - which include transport to and from Epping Underground station - are available at www.eorailway.co.uk.

Man charged over M11 smash

A MOTORIST has been charged with a number of driving offences following a serious collision on the southbound carriageway of the M11 near Harlow.

The incident happened on June 14 and resulted in a man being airlifted to hospital after suffering broken ribs, multiple fractures and ligament damage to his legs.

Ricky Welsh, from Palmers Green, north London, has been charged with driving without due care and attention, not wearing his seatbelt, using a vehicle with a worn tyre and having no MOT.

Council gives green light for Newhall expansion

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HUNDREDS more homes are to be built on the site of Harlow's award-winning Newhall development after councillors unanimously approved plans for the next phase of the project.

Housebuilder Linden Homes has been granted permission to build a further 328 homes on a 9.66 hectare swathe of farmland, bringing the total number of homes on the whole estate up to 2,780.

It claims the expansion will take the development in a "new direction" by incorporating a range of large family houses in generously-sized plots alongside smaller two- and three-bedroom homes and blocks of one- and two-bed apartments.

The boundary of the new phase will follow the course of Newpond Spring and will closely border Barnsley Wood - which will soon be the only natural buffer between the rapidly-expanding development and nearby Church Langley.

The developers claim its semi-rural setting has inspired architects John Thompson & Partners to design homes with a "softer and less urban feel", providing a contrast to the striking contemporary buildings found elsewhere on the development.

Incorporating the natural elements surrounding the site, they plan to make landscaping a key element of the new phase, which will have a 'village green'

AWARD-WINNING: Newhall's next phase will feature 328 homes and a range of landscaping features area at its centre.

Adrian Bohr, director and general manager at Linden Homes Eastern, said: "We are delighted to receive the go-ahead for our next development phase in Harlow.

"It's already a thriving community and the seal of approval gained through numerous award wins is setting this site apart from the crowd.

"Residents at the new development will benefit from a recently opened play school and a further school planned as part of the next phase - so will be ideal for young professionals, and families alike."

Prices for a one-bedroom apartment are expected to start at around £175,000, going up to £500,000 for a detached five-bedroom house.

Manor Mild takes pride of place at beer festival

SAWBRIDGEWORTH Brewery has picked up its highest accolade to date after one of its ales was chosen for the Great British Beer Festival at London's Olympia.

The microbrewery, located behind The Gate pub in London Road, has been producing top quality beers for 12 years and is owned by the Barnett family.

Gary Barnett said: "We're extremely pleased that our Manor Mild will be in the biggest and best beer festival in the country."

He added that its beers have become so popular that the microbrewery is in the process of doubling its capacity to keep up with growing demand.

The GBBF is widely regarded as the largest and best of the national beer festivals in the UK.

Some 55,000 people are expected to attend this year's event from August 13-17, where more than 800 real ales, ciders and perries will be on tap.

Essex County Council

Town given £48k to help 'strengthen community'

HARLOW has been chosen to trial a project which it is hoped will bring residents and organisations together to improve local communities.

Following a successful bid to Whole Essex Community Budget, £48,550 has been secured to tackle a range of issues in the town. Harlow is currently one of three areas in Essex which have been successful in receiving funding.

The aim is to recruit people called Community Builders who will help connect and support voluntary and community groups, individuals and services. They will then develop a network of voluntary Community Connectors to work with the local community in identifying and tackling local issues that are important to them, such as the isolation of elderly and vulnerable people.

Harlow Council will be working with Rainbow Services and a range of other community and voluntary groups to roll out the trial, which will initially take place in three areas of the town.

Councillor Emma Toal, Harlow Council's cabinet portfolio holder for youth and citizenship, said: "This funding will help us build on the excellent work that the community and voluntary sector do in Harlow and to encourage networking and opportunities for local people to be involved in activities that will directly benefit their community."

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

How do you think this money should be spent to improve Harlow?

www.harlowstar.co.uk

Jackie Sully, chief executive at Rainbow Services, added "We are very excited about being involved in this trial. The award of this grant recognises that Harlow has a very strong voluntary sector and we welcome this opportunity to work in partnership to encourage even greater community activity."

"We are currently in the process of recruiting a Community Builder and will be working with partners to identify three areas to pilot within the next few weeks."

Bob Reitemeier, chief executive of the Essex Community Foundation and member of the Essex Partnership Board, said he believed that in order to create stronger and more resilient communities, it is essential that local residents have the capability and the confidence to take ownership of local issues.

"Community Builders are an ideal way to develop solutions which place local communities at the heart of decision-making, empowering local residents to take action," he said.

"There is a tremendous amount of energy and passion in all communities across Essex and Community Builders can help target this to solve local issues."

Ambulance trust faces financial crisis

DIRECTORS of the region's under-fire ambulance service face an urgent need to improve services - despite a potential £16m deficit.

The East of England Ambulance Service's trust board met in front of a packed public gallery following months of criticism and complaints due to lengthy call times.

While a number of targets are still not being met in various sectors - including care for patients suffering cardiac arrests and the time ambulances take to drop patients off at hospital before heading back on the road - most debate surrounded the trust's perilous financial state.

Stephen Day, interim director of finance, presented a report which showed significant ongoing overspending on private ambulance services while less income than expected from commissioners had left the trust well below its expected position.

Mr Day said: "Following the results for June and given current financial trends, forecasts have been adjusted and now show that without corrective action being taken, the potential net risk to the trust would be £16m.

"This is an absolute worst case scenario - disaster - but that is why I have presented this report."

He added that the trust still hopes to make extra money from cost improvement plans which are yet to bear fruit and other savings projects.

But Dr Geoff Harris, interim chairman, said: "If there is anyone here who did not realise how challenging a financial position we are in now, they do now."

"We have an overspend on PAS because of poor planning. We need to have a better idea of expenditure and the fact we have failed in this area makes me question the approach we are taking in others."

"I wonder how much confidence I should have in the CIPs being delivered now? If we don't ensure these now then they won't be delivered and we will be in a very bad position."

Andrew Morgan, interim chief executive, said: "We know we don't have enough of our own staff and we have been back-filling with PAS."

"We need to get more of our own people on the road in more ambulances and that is what we are trying to achieve. This could save us a lot of overspend."

Driver died when car 'aquaplaned' during heavy rain

A VERDICT of accidental death has been recorded on a driver who died after his BMW car aquaplaned in heavy rain on the M11 and then overturned as it crashed down an embankment.

Electrician Nigel White (45), of Westfield, Harlow, died from a brain haemorrhage following the crash near North Weald, an inquest at Chelmsford heard on Friday.

Assistant coroner Eleanor McGann was told that since the accident on November 4 last year, work has been carried out by the Highways Agency in a bid to prevent aquaplaning by ensuring any

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

rainwater runs down the drains instead of flowing back onto the road.

As she announced her verdict, she said she was glad to hear the work was complete.

Coroner's officer Laura Howard said Mr White was driving his BMW to work in heavy rain when the accident happened.

Eyewitness Stephen Bowering said he saw the BMW "lose control and go sideways." He pulled up and found the car upside down about 20 feet down the embankment.

He checked the vehicle for fuel leakage and "possible fire" but could not see the driver.

Estimating his own speed at between 50-60mph beforehand, Mr Bowering said Mr White had not been driving any faster. The court was told the speed of the BMW was 57mph.

PC Dave Howie, who carried out an investigation, said that due to the camber in the road rainwater had started to accumulate on the road surface.

He added that the middle tread on Mr White's rear tyres, although legal, had been close to the limit.

Cash windfall for air ambulance raffle winners

THE eleventh Air Ambulance Raffle organised by the Essex & Herts Air Ambulance Trust has raised more than £98,000 which will be used to keep the charity's two emergency helicopters flying and saving lives.

The winner of the £2,000 first prize was Paul Ferriby, who visited the Essex Air Ambulance airbase at Earls Colne with his wife, Gitta, to meet the crew and see the helicopter up close. Mr Ferriby is a member of the Flight for Life Lottery.

"We contribute to the Essex & Herts Air Ambulance Trust as it provides a very fast and professional life-saving assistance to all of us in Essex and Hertfordshire should we find ourselves unexpectedly in need of urgent medical help," he said.

"Furthermore, since visiting the airfield and meeting some of the air crew and fundraising staff, it only further endorses the fact that we have made the correct decision to support them."

The second prize of £1,000 was won by Mr G. Foord, who donated £200 back to the charity, while the third prize of £500 was won by Mrs M. Smith.

Holly Butler, brand development co-ordinator who organises the raffle, said:

"Many congratulations to all our raffle winners, whose support is much appreciated.

"I would also like to extend my thanks to everyone who supported the raffle by selling and buying tickets and those who made additional donations, helping raise a fantastic sum for the charity.

"Without the generosity of the people of Essex and Herts we simply could not continue to fly and help those who need it the most."

Crossrail project 'will help support ECC regeneration plans for Harlow'

ESSEX County Council has thrown its weight behind the multi-million pound Crossrail 2 project, saying it would support growth and regeneration plans for Harlow.

County Hall has submitted its formal response to Transport for London's consultation on the scheme, expressing strong support for the economic benefits that it could bring to the area.

Crossrail 2 would create a new, high-frequency rail line running between south-west and northeast London. The county council said it recognised the potential to provide significant economic benefit to communities in west Essex - including Harlow - as well as providing "vital support" to Stansted Airport.

The county has recorded its support for the regional option for Crossrail 2, which would connect central London with areas to the north-east and south-west.

County councillor Rodney Bass, cabinet member for highways and transportation, said:
"We welcome the opportunity to respond to Transport for London's consultation on the Crossrail 2 project."

"Essex County Council strongly supports the regional option for Crossrail 2 and we recognise the opportunities that this scheme presents for aiding economic growth across the west of the county."

"There are number of areas that must be looked at closely to ensure that this scheme realises its full potential and we look forward to working closely with Transport for London and other partners as this scheme develops."

In support of this stance, ECC believes that Crossrail 2 should be developed within a wider framework that also delivers faster and more frequent services from west Essex and Stansted Airport to London, alongside a frequent service for north London.

The scheme also provides an opportunity to examine the provision of fast rail services between Stansted and the other London airports. It is, therefore, ECC's view that Crossrail 2 is entirely dependent on the delivery of the Lea Valley four-track
proposal between Coppermill Junction and Broxbourne.

ECC believes that four-tracking towards Stansted Airport would allow for existing and enhanced fast suburban services to deliver for the communities of west Essex and Herts, while visitors and passengers accessing the airport should be supported with an enhanced fast express service to and from central London.

ECC's consultation expresses the view that Crossrail 2 has the potential to improve connectivity for Essex residents, with enhanced interchange opportunities at Tottenham Hale and Hackney.
This would help to relieve congestion at Liverpool Street, providing capacity for outer-suburban and express services.

The council is also calling for appropriate investment in the Central Line in order to address capacity and frequency issue, and to enhance the level of service offered to commuters from the Epping Forest area.

Late-night fry-ups are the most common cause of kitchen fires

MORE fires start in the kitchen than in any other room in the home, Essex fire chiefs have warned.

In the first six months of this year more than half of all house
fires originated in the kitchen, with cooking being responsible for more than half.

According to Essex Fire and Rescue Service, a particular problem occurs when people return home after a night out and start to prepare a fry up or, more commonly, chips and then end up falling asleep at the kitchen
table, leaving the pan alight.

One in 10 kitchen fires start after people arrive home from a night out at 11pm. And 20 per cent of kitchen fires occur in homes with no smoke detectors fitted at all.

Divisional officer Neil Fenwick said: "Our firefighters attend hundreds of fires a year which originate in the kitchen."

"Cooking is one of the major causes of fires in the home and even the smallest kitchen fire can cause devastation to your home and leave loved ones injured or even killed."

"Drinking and cooking simply do not mix. Time and again firefighters have been called to fires in the home and found a pan of food on the stove and someone sound asleep on the sofa. This is a deadly combination, just three breaths of smoke can be enough to kill."

Woman cut free from wreckage of car

A WOMAN had to be cut free from her car after an accident in London Road, Harlow, on Tuesday morning.

Firefighters who were called to the scene at 8.39am found a vehicle had left the roadway and was lying on its side with a woman trapped inside.

Crews used specialist cutting equipment to remove the roof of the vehicle and release the woman, who was placed in the care of the ambulance service.

Trophies keep on coming for Kings Group

A HARLOW estate agent has added another trophy to its cabinet after picking up a gong at the British Mortgage Awards.

Staff at Kings Group, which has branches in East Gate and Church Langley, are toasting the success of employee Chris Bramham after he scooped the Business Leader of The Year - Mortgage Adviser award at the glitzy industry event in London.

His success comes after the firm swept the board at the Estate &amp; Letting Agent Awards earlier this year with an impressive 13 wins.

Chris, who was recognised for his work with the mortgage intermediary sector, told the Star: "This was voted for by some real industry giants so it is a real honour.

"While this is technically an individual award, this is not just about me - it's about the team of people that I work with and the great business that it is."

"I have been in the mortgage industry for 25 years, but the recognition is for everyone at Kings and comes when we have had a really good year!"

Astro a leading light in international trade

A HARLOW lighting firm has received the Royal seal of approval after becoming the only Essex-based business to pick up a coveted Queen's Award for Enterprise this year.

Astro Lighting, which designs and manufactures interior lighting for home and business use, was presented with the UK's highest business accolade in recognition of its international trading success.

Managing director John Fearon was even congratulated by Her Majesty after being invited to attend a reception at Buckingham Palace the night before the company celebrated its win with a party at the firm's River Way headquarters.

It was not the first time Astro has rubbed shoulders with royalty, as lights from their bathroom wall-light range were used in the London hotel where the Duchess of Cambridge spent the night before her wedding.

"I am extremely proud to receive this prestigious Award," Mr Fearon told the Star. "It recognises the hard work and expertise of the Astro team in the UK and abroad and everyone is looking forward to celebrating the result of this."

Founded in 1997 by Mr Fearon and design director James Bassant, Astro has grown to be a great British success story, earning a reputation for innovative designs and high quality manufacture.

COMMUNITY NEWS

Amateur artist's charity auction

A KEEN artist has painted three portraits of famous figures in the hope of auctioning them off and raising money for two charities close to his heart.

Jawad Sharief (35), of Mallows Green, has painted portraits of Prince William, Prince Charles and Ed Miliband. He will now be holding an email auction with all money raised going to St

Elizabeth's Centre and the Royal National Institute of the Blind.

Jawad, whose portrait of Tony Blair appeared in a national newspaper several years ago, said: "A third of the proceeds will go to RNIB and two thirds will go to St Elizabeth's Centre in Staple Tye. "The reason I have chosen the RNIB is because my dad is getting old and his eyesight is going so I thought it would be nice to acknowledge a charity that helps people who are blind or partially sighted. "I chose St Elizabeth's because I know first-hand of the important work they do.

"I'm open to offers and can hopefully raise lots of money for charity."

To bid for one of Jawad's paintings, send an email to jsharief700@gmail.com.

Devoted dad's night ride in memory of beloved daughter

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A LOVING father who lost his baby daughter due to a heart defect has completed a 60-mile night ride to raise money for the British Heart Foundation.

Alan Honiss (44), of Sawbridgeworth, took on the charity's London to Brighton Night Ride in memory of his daughter, Alana Sophie Honiss, who was born in November 2005 but died only three days later of hypoplastic left heart syndrome - a condition where the left ventricle of the heart does not develop properly.

Alan said: "I've always wanted to do something for the BHF since Alana passed away but my mindset hasn't been right over the past few years. However, I felt now was the right time to take on the challenge.

"Taking part in the London to Brighton Night Ride was great fun and a unique experience. There was a real sense of adventure riding through the night and although tough at times, the atmosphere throughout was brilliant and really spurred me on to the finish line."

Mark Dowsett (46), of Old Harlow, joined Alan on the ride after losing his father as a child.

He said: "My dad died when I was around seven-years-old from a heart attack; he was only 40. My mum brought me up on her own and she passed away a few years ago so I know that she would be happy that took part in the ride.

"That and making money for a great organisation was all the motivation I needed."

Alan and Mark crossed the finish line - where families and friends were waiting - in five hours.

Alan said: "We're both very proud to have completed the ride especially knowing that our sponsorship money will go towards important research to find a cure for heart failure."

Faith group seeking community heroes

CHURCH group Heart 4 Harlow will be hosting their second community awards ceremony at the Manor of Groves Hotel later this year - and nominations are now open.

Trophies are awarded in five categories - business, education, charity, civic authorities and sport and leisure - and both individuals and groups can be nominated.

Last year's awards dinner was a great success and town chaplain Robert Findlay is hoping to make this year's event even better.

Nominations should be sent to Mr Findlay at r.j.findlay@btinternet.com with the nominator and nominee's names as well as the category and reason for nomination.

The closing date for nominations is Saturday, August 31.

Post Office offers community grants

A COMPETITION has been launched by the Post Office to find local projects in need of a cash boost - and residents have been asked to help find them.

Members of the public are urged to suggest projects and organisations to their local post office so that local sub-postmasters across the country can then apply for up to £10,000 from a joint £200,000 community enterprise fund from the Department for Communities and Local Government and the post offices.

To suggest a project, speak to the local branch manager by October 18.

Coffee morning to beat cancer

A CANCER charity wants businesses and residents across Harlow to help it raise over £15m - by drinking coffee and eating cake!

Macmillan Cancer Support wants this year's World's Biggest Coffee Morning to be the biggest ever, and is hoping more than 200 fundraising coffee mornings will take place across the town.

Laura Bazzoni, Macmillan's fundraising manager for Essex, said: "We want to make sure no one has to face cancer alone but we can't do it without the amazing people who fundraise for us."

The official World's Biggest Coffee Morning day is on September 27 but events can be held at any time. To sign up and find out more visit www.macmillan.org.uk or call 0845 602 1246.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, August 2 was ticketholder 376215, who lives in Loughton.

The £100 second prize was won by ticketholder 490086, who lives in Harlow.

Sky's the limit for gospel choir star TJ Weekes

A GOSPEL singer from Old Harlow will be flexing his vocal chords tomorrow (Friday) when he performs live with one of the UK's top gospel choirs.

TJ Weekes, of The Hoo, will join the CK Gospel Choir on stage at King's Place in London for the group's first concert in the capital for two years.

The 16-member group's exciting fusion of traditional gospel with elements of soul, jazz and Latin styles has won them a loyal following across Europe - and even saw them secure a slot on Sky 1's hit talent show Must Be The Music.

TJ, who has performed live with the group in top UK venues including Wembley Arena and The Jazz Café, said he was excited to be back on stage in the capital.

"It will be great to back in London," he told the Star. "The group has been formed by like-minded, independently talented singers who come together in a common love of performing."

"The show will feature a mix of traditional and modern gospel, soul and pop covers, mixed with some original song - and a few surprises!"

Hoedown time as country festival returns

chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT may not be Music City USA but Harlow still knows how to throw a darn good country music party.

For the past 12 years - and throughout the 1970s and '80s - the Town Park has hosted one of the UK's biggest and best country festivals, making the town a hub for European fans of the genre.

And this Sunday will be no different, as Country In The Park returns with another impressive line-up featuring the cream of the UK's buoyant country music scene.

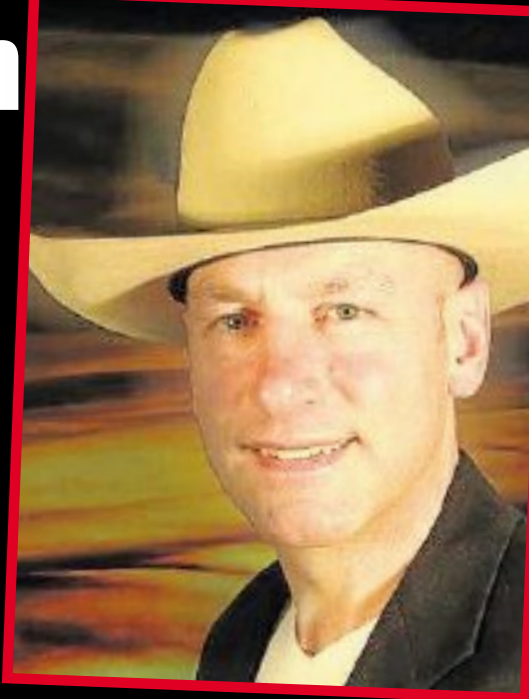

Organised by Harlow Country Music Centre - now in its 44th year - in partnership with the Great Parndon Community Association, Sunday's bill features the likes of Gary Perkins & The Breeze, pictured above, The Thrillbillies, Nancy Ann Lee, Next Of Kin and Blake & Brazil - not to mention a non-stop line-dance disco.

Compere Dave Ingold, a co-director of the GPCA who was at the helm of the HCMC for more than 30 years before stepping down in 2012, told the Star he was hoping for a big turnout.

"We usually get around 3,000 people down each year, so it's a pretty big event," he said.

"A lot of people don't realise how good the country music scene is in the UK. There are some really good bands, many of which have played either the festival or the HCMC over the years.

With country becoming an increasingly diverse genre, melding pop, rock and folk influences with traditional styles, Dave said this year's line-up had been chosen to cater for all tastes.

"There are lots of different branches of country music now, but we're confident we've got something for everyone in Sunday's line-up," he added.

"You don't have to be a country fan to enjoy the music. We're hoping that even the uninitiated will join us for some fun!"

>>>Country In The Park comes to the Bandstand in Harlow Town Park on Sunday from 11.30am-6.30pm. Admission is free.

Summer school students get in the groove

BUDDING young performers spent the start of their school holidays sharpening their dance moves after attending a Harlow dance school's intensive summer course.

While most schoolchildren put their feet up following the end of another long term, more than 65 youngsters aged 5-15 took part in Hip Hop Pop's summer school at Harlow Playhouse last week.

While the under-10s spent two days learning key hip-hop styles - including Lockin', Poppin' and Top Rock - the older students received a comprehensive overview of the genre.

Not only were they given an introduction to some of the most popular dance styles but they were also got a fascinating insight into the history and evolution of hip hop dance, from Top Rock, Breakdancing and Roboting to Krumpin', House and Hard-Style Shuffles.

The five-day course then culminated in a 12-minute 'Evolution of Hip Hop Dance' routine in the Playhouse's main auditorium, complete with special effects, projections and light show.

Hip Hop Pop owner Jenny Bater said she was thrilled by how well the students had progressed.

"The students have really grasped not just the moves but the theory behind the moves and have excelled themselves in their performance," she said.

"I am proud to pass on our expertise to such young talent and love watching our students' skills and personalities grow within their dancing."

GARDENING &amp; PUZZLES

Colour without the high maintenance

OUR sweltering July probably prompted many gardeners to reach for the hosepipe. In fact, according to The Royal Horticultural Society (RHS), less than 3% of the annual water consumption of an average household is estimated to be from garden use, but at peak demand times as much as 70% of water supplied may be used in gardens.

This doesn't have to be the case though. Rainwater collected in water butts, waste water from the kitchen and grey water from the bathroom can all be used to water plants.

Or, maybe, the ultimate solution is simply to create a garden that doesn't need much watering in the first place.

This doesn't mean creating a desert garden devoid of colour. Dramatic flowerbeds can easily be achieved from plants that have very low moisture and maintenance demands. Many drought-resistant plants naturally form communities of plants which all thrive in the same conditions and come from similar Mediterranean habitats.

At the front of the border you could have dwarf lavender, Sedum spectabile, lamb's ears and ornamental grass such as stipa tenuissima, while middle-sized drought-resistant plants include Echinacea purpurea 'Magnus', Erysimum 'Bowles's Mauve' (wallflower), Russian sage and Nepeta 'Six Hills Giant' (catmint, pictured).

At the back of the border you could use species

GARDENING TIPS by Hannah Stephenson

more than 1.8m tall, including Cotinus coggygia 'Royal Purple', Choisya ternata (Mexican orange blossom) and Trachelospermum jasminoides.

Most drought-tolerant plants will have either aromatic leaves, fleshy and succulent leaves (which store moisture for dry spells), grey leaves, hairy leaves (which shade themselves with their own hairs), long narrow leaves (which are good at shedding heat without water), or spikes (which act as 'fins' to cool the plant).

The RHS offers these extra tips to create a more drought-resistant, but still attractive, garden:

- Cultivate the soil deeply and dig in large quantities of organic matter to improve soil structure, water retention and water availability for plants. Well-rotted garden compost, mushroom compost, composted bark and well-rotted farmyard manure are all suitable forms of organic matter. Heavy manuring can add nearly a month's worth of water storage capacity to the soil. Loam-based potting compost doesn't dry out as quickly as peat-free composts. If using peat-free, water-retaining gels might have some benefit.

- Apply sufficient fertiliser as plants use water most efficiently where nutrient levels are adequate. But do not apply too much fertiliser to the soil, as this can encourage too much lush growth which can flop in summer, requiring extra watering and becoming frost-damaged in winter.

- Choose plants with grey-green or silver leaves as they reflect the sun's rays, helping to conserve moisture within the plant tissues.

- Try to choose plants which suit the site's soil type and aspect. They will be more tolerant of varying climatic conditions as well as of pest and disease problems.

- Plant things while they are still small. They will develop much greater resilience as they adapt to their conditions from a young age. Ideally plant in autumn so they can do some growing before dry weather arrives.

- If planting Mediterranean plants, do so in spring when the soil is warming up. Many of these plants will suffer from root-rot if planted in autumn and become cold and damp over winter.

- Before planting, thoroughly soak the plants in their pots in a bucket of water until the bubbles stop rising to the surface.

- Thoroughly water in all new plants (and keep them watered in the first season after planting to ensure they establish well). Once established, they will become much more drought tolerant.

- After planting, mulch the bed with 5-7.5cm (2-3in) of gravel or, even better, a layer of compost or straw covered with gravel, to help retain moisture while the plants establish.

- You may decide to go without a lawn in your drought-friendly garden, but if not, you'll be pleased to know that lawns are surprisingly drought tolerant and usually recover well in the autumn rains even if they have been brown and parched most of the summer. Lawn irrigation should rarely be required, if at all, to keep the grass healthy.

It's Lone star Depp as a wild west hero

THE LONE RANGER

certificate 12A, 2h29m

IT'S "Hi-ho, Silver, away!" for Gore Verbinski and Johnny Depp, director and Oscar nominated star of the Pirates Of The Caribbean saga who reunite for this rootin' tootin' reinvention of the masked avenger.

The Lone Ranger began life as a radio series in the early 1930s and captured the imagination of listeners across America. The title character, who rode the plains searching for truth and justice in the company of his Native American sidekick Tonto, inspired a spin-off series and then galloped from the big to the small screen as a long-running TV series starring Clayton Moore and John Hart. Verbinski's lavish romp spares no expense in terms of spectacle, including two outrageous set pieces aboard moving trains that are a thrilling combination of old-fashioned stunt work and pyrotechnics.

While the title of the film may be The Lone Ranger, this is Depp's show and once again he is given carte blanche to conjure a quixotic, comic creation out of the ether. His Tonto lassos all of the best lines and is involved in the most thrilling daredevil action.

A framing device set in 1933 San Francisco confirms his star billing. A Native American mannequin (Depp) magically comes to life in order to recount the story of the Lone Ranger to a wide-eyed boy (Mason Cook).

In hazy flashback we join handsome lawyer John Reid (Armie Hammer) in 1869 Texas as he travels on the newly constructed railroad controlled by Latham Cole (Tom Wilkinson). Soon after, John is reunited with his brother, Texas Ranger Dan Reid (James Badge Dale), and pretty sister-in-law Rebecca (Ruth Wilson).

When outlaw Butch Cavendish (William Fichtner) escapes custody, Dan leads the search party and he reluctantly deputises John so they can spend quality time together. Unfortunately, the chase ends in carnage and John wakes from a bullet wound to meet Tonto (Depp), a quixotic Comanche Native American who also has good reason to want Cavendish dead.

The Comanche encourages John to find the hero within by donning a mask and together they hunt down the outlaw, taking a small yet important detour via the brothel run by no-nonsense madam Red Harrington (Helena Bonham Carter).

The Lone Ranger is an entertaining action adventure, distinguished by Depp's theatrics and Bojan Bazelli's stunning cinematography. The west has seldom looked so splendidly wild and rugged.

Unquestionably the 149-minute running time will leave audiences feeling saddle-sore and the film noticeably drags its spurs in the middle section. However, when it comes to the action, Verbinski's film delivers at a canter.

ALAN PARTRIDGE: ALPHA PAPA

certificate 15, 1h52m

NORFOLK'S most famous knitwear-clad DJ abandons his beloved radio studio for the big screen in this comic caper directed by Declan Lowney.

Alan (Steve Coogan) and his trusty sidekick Simon (Tim Key) host the Mid Morning Matters show at the North Norfolk Digital radio station.

Vicious rumours circulate that management are planning to freshen up the station by axing some of the older DJs and changing the name of the station to Shape.

Late night presenter Pat Farrell (Colm Meaney) fears he will be one for the chop so he asks Alan to speak to management and avert a cull. Unfortunately, Alan only makes the situation worse so Pat is forced to take his colleagues hostage, armed with a shotgun.

By chance, Alan is outside the building when the siege begins so police recruit him as a hostage negotiator to talk to Pat and resolve the stand-off.

Alan relishes his moment in the media spotlight, becoming known as the "face of the siege" as he attempts to salve frayed nerves and raise the spirits of his long-suffering personal assistant Lynn (Felicity Montagu) and plucky security guard Michael (Simon Greenall).

GROWN-UPS 2

certificate 12A, 1h41m

The sequel to the 2010 comedy Grown Ups reunites director Dennis Dugan with his ensemble cast for another exploration of the emotional bonds that tie parents to their children.

Set three years after the original film, the storyline centres on Lenny Feder (Adam Sandler), who has moved back to Connecticut with his wife Roxie (Salma Hayek) and their brood.

A reunion with Lenny's childhood buddies Eric (Kevin James), Kurt (Chris Rock) and Marcus (David Spade) turns sour when a group of bullying high school kids takes over the swimming place the men frequented when they were young. Rivalry between the two posers threatens to spiral out of control.

Meanwhile, the fathers have to deal with troublesome kids, each realising they can learn much from the younger generation.

PERCY JACKSON: SEA OF MONSTERS

certificate PG, 1h46m

DEMI-gods embark on a perilous quest to save their magical training ground from destruction in the sequel to the 2010 fantasy adventure

Percy Jackson (Logan Lerman), son of Poseidon, is protected from harm at Camp Half-Blood by the power of Thalia's tree. Two gargantuan bronze bulls attack the camp and, soon after, Percy and the other demi-gods discover that someone has poisoned the tree, leaving them open to attack from dark forces.

The only artefact which can restore the tree is the Golden Fleece but this precious item lurks within the Sea of Monsters, otherwise known as the Bermuda Triangle.

Clarisse LaRue (Leven Rambin), daughter of Ares, is chosen to lead the quest to retrieve the fleece but Percy decides to lead a separate mission and joins forces with Annabeth (Alexandra Daddario), daughter of Athena, wise-cracking satyr Grover (Brandon T Jackson) and his cyclops half brother Tyson (Douglas Smith) to venture into the Bermuda Triangle.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

RECENT interior design trends have seen a move away from low key neutrals. White walls and minimalism are rapidly being replaced by more flamboyant colours and loud patterns.

While this is a more difficult look to pull off compared to the relatively easy 50 shades of white, it can produce some striking results when it is done well.

However, when done badly the results can be dire. In reality it probably needs a designer's eye to do it properly... but that's unlikely to stop many of us!

When it comes to matters of taste and style, it's far too personal an issue to say what is right and wrong.

The people most likely to share your taste are normally to be found in your own peer group. They're usually about the same age as you and share very similar backgrounds and interests. But even that's no guarantee.

The issue of taste really comes to a head when you are trying to sell your house and the latest loud and bright schemes makes things far trickier. Even when bolder designs are brilliantly done, not everyone will like them and not everyone who likes them will actually want to live with them.

What makes matters worse is that when we are selling we are often doing so to a completely different peer group to our own because we are moving onto a different stage in life. That different peer group will almost certainly have very different design ideas.

One thing we can be sure about is that we all share a common desire to personalise our homes, to make them our own in some shape or form. Bold designs can be overpowering and make it far harder to imagine how you might make a home your own.

It puts an unnecessary barrier in the way of the sale and instantly limits your market. The key is to depersonalise your house when you're trying to sell it.

The Meaning of Service

Most estate agents see their role solely as a purveyor of buyers, and they understandably pride themselves on their ability to find the right buyer for a property and to negotiate attractive terms for the seller.

But estate agency has moved on. Indeed, finding a buyer is arguably one of the most straightforward aspects of selling a property. Wise sellers now seek other attributes in their estate agent.

We all know how emotionally traumatic a house move can be. Yet many agents fail to recognise their ability to reduce this overall burden by becoming thoroughly involved not only in the actual sale of an individual property, but also in the move as a whole. We feel this provides a great opportunity for the service-focused agent to deliver a level of customer service that really makes a difference. A service based on empathy. In other words, seeing the world through the eyes of the buyer/seller. With this vision, agents can then anticipate and proactively respond to the very real needs of the house-moving public.

An example of an obvious contribution that agents can make is a hands-on approach to any related property transactions, rather than blaming solicitors for any delay. A chain is only as strong as the weakest link, yet many agents sit back and wait once a sale is agreed. Madness!

So if you are to make your move enjoyable rather than simply endurable, choose an agent who believes passionately in supportive customer service. Choose Geoffrey Matthew Estates.

IT'S been a long wait but finally it's here. Jaguar's F-Type has had one of the longest build-ups of any car in recent years, but all the hype now has to stop and the car itself is required to do the talking.

Jaguar says the F-Type is its first 'proper' sports car in 52 years. As the name suggests, it has to follow in the footsteps of the E-Type.

Massive shoes to fill, of course, but view one alongside the other and you can see lineage, not pastiche.

The F-Type nods to its great-grandparent in the cut-off nose and high rear deck, but it's a thoroughly modern design.

It pulls the neat trick of looking sensational in a range of colours and the option of light or dark wheels gives extra scope for tailoring. Looks-wise, it's a solid-gold hit.

And it's clever with it, being sculpted out of aluminium just like the bigger XJ saloon. That helps to keep the weight down while remaining as strong as a conventional steel structure.

It's a convertible only, of course, but the wise decision to stick with a fabric roof means a 12-second raising or lowering routine and no unsightly design compromises. It's a strict two-seater and the boot is modest, but you could fit a generous weekend's luggage in there without having to skimp.

Fact File

Jaguar F-Type V6S

£67,520

ENGINE:
TRANSMISSION:
PERFORMANCE:
ECONOMY:
CO<sub>2</sub> RATING:

3.0-litre petrol unit producing 375bhp
8 speed automatic driving rear wheels
Maximum speed 171mph, 0-62mph 4.9s
31mpg (combined)
213g/km

Approach the door and you press a button to pop out the flush-fitting door handle - a feature that keeps the overall design slick - and drop into the driver's seat.

It's snug but not cramped, and aside from the button-covered steering wheel, the cabin is a lesson in simplicity. A row of straightforward switches, the familiar Jag touchscreen and neat new climate controls complete the job.

The joystick-like gear lever encourages you to 'fire' it when selecting Drive by pushing the trigger-like button; a clever ploy to get you in the mood.

The three-model range comprises of the F-Type V6, F-Type V6S and the top V8S. But there's no such thing as an 'entry-level' model here. The only thing telling them apart is a discreet badge front and rear plus quad exhaust pipes on the V8S.

Fire it up and there is a surprisingly strident crackle from the exhaust, another area where there has been effort expended to deliver the right kind of feel.

Set off in the standard V6 and there's an instant feeling of 'rightness'. The steering is quick and accurate but smooth, while the ride quality is immediately impressive while remaining in firm touch with the road.

Left to its own devices, the eight-speed automatic shifts quickly and smoothly and you can surf along on the generous torque. It's sporty, but it's still a Jaguar.

Smooth and effortless though it is, the F-Type really shines when pressing on. The surety of its responses instils plenty of confidence, and as you start to push it harder through challenging bends, it just keeps on gripping, staying flat and controlled whatever the surface is doing.

It deals with broken surfaces remarkably well, but you can tweak all the individual Dynamic settings and soften the suspension again if desired. Even if you don't, it's never harsh.

It's unquestionably fast, too. The F-Type starts with 335bhp, and if you never sampled the more powerful versions, you'd think it was plenty.

With eight gears to flick through, the supercharged V6 spins up quickly and always has torque to spare. If you can spare the extra cash, the 375bhp of the V6S is welcome.

On the other hand, the V8S is a monster; the chassis is more than capable of coping with almost 490bhp, and the resulting acceleration, speed and noise are truly breathtaking - it's a devilish delight.

We've waited patiently for the F-Type and been thoroughly primed for its arrival, but the truth is Jaguar has delivered a truly superb car. It has the looks and performance beyond what you might hope for,

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Junior coaching quartet's boost for Rams

COACHING at Harlow Rugby Club has received a massive boost after a quartet of experienced former players passed top qualifications.

Former Malta international Martin Mallia, Richard Mowat, Simon Jenner and Jake Tucker have all been recognised as UKCC Level 2 qualified coaches.

They are volunteers and are all unpaid members of the Elizabeth Way club's junior section. Club press spokesman Dave Sharp said:

"Congratulations go to Harlow Rugby Club junior section volunteers; Richard Mowat, Martin Mallia, Simon Jenner and Jake Tucker who have been busy over the closed season. They have now successfully completed their own training programmes, passed the exams and are now UKCC Level 2 qualified coaches. A big hand for their continued commitment to the junior section of the club."

The United Kingdom Coaching Certificate

(UKCC) provides a recognised stamp of quality coaching across all sport and across the UK.

"With the speed at which the game of rugby is evolving the club is delighted that younger members who are still playing and whose skills are up to date are willing to devote their time to coaching," added Sharp.

The club's first team play in division three north east of the RFU London and South East League.

Upadhyay is difference as Town win close derby

THE all-round performance of Ramya Upadhyay was the difference between the two sides as Harlow Town beat Epping at home by just one wicket with one ball to spare in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Upadhyay took 7-56 and scored 50 not out as Town just edged home on Saturday.

Epping batted first and started steadily before Upadhyay was introduced into the attack.

He made the breakthrough with the help of a sharp one handed catch from Ashley Alderson in close.

Manni Bawa joined Epping captain Geoff Maynard at the crease and the pair went about building a partnership before Manni was dismissed by Upadhyay for 31.

Maynard hung around to make a very good 79 before he was dismissed by Upadhyay who cleaned up the tail.

Epping were bowled out for 166. In reply, Town struggled and only Matt Hurley of the top five made any kind of contribution.

He scored 27 but Town looked down and out at 76-6.

However, number six Upadhyay put on 54 for the seventh wicket with Pat Yates fell for 26.

Town then slipped to 139-9 but

POISED: Shaun Alderson bowls against Epping (more photos online) number 11 Dan Calver joined Upadhyay and they whittled the target down to 10 runs from one over.

It then came down to one run needed from the last two balls and Calver edged the penultimate delivery for one to bring Town a victory.

Town captain Ashley Alderson said: "It was a great all round performance from Ramya that managed to help us to the win."

"Epping played well but the game should never have got that close."

Meanwhile, Harlow Town II (161-3) beat Epping II (160) by seven wickets in division three of the 2nd XI league.

Graeme Eversden (3-49) and the returning Scott Baker (3-28) were Town's best bowlers.

Town skipper Jason Gladwin pulled a hamstring but played a match-winning knock of 90 not out.

Hawks suffer Barton loss

THE Hawks lost their last pre-season friendly when they were beaten 2-0 at home by Southern League side Barton Rovers, writes DAVID RIMMER.

Barton proved durable opponents and were better going forward than Harlow.

Hawks' forwards Alex Read and Leon Antoine got little change from the visitors' defence in the 90 minutes.

Barton went ahead from a 19th-minute free-kick.

A header and shot was blocked before Peter Gatti stabbed the ball home.

Two minutes later, Harlow were extremely unlucky not to be level.

From a free-kick, Shane Stamp squeezed the ball over the line but the assistant referee did not see it and no goal was given.

Barton's second goal came on 55 minutes.

Tom Guiney was allowed too much space before he shot home from 22 yards.

Harlow exerted some pressure towards the end but the final killer pass was missing.

Former Bishop's Stortford left winger Junior Substone came on as a second-half substitute.

Deployed as a left-back he showed electric pace going forward but was unable to produce anything tangible.

However, his pace saved Harlow defensively on two occasions.

The second period was also marked by a silly altercation when Hawks midfielder Jordan Fowler got involved in a spat with Barton players and had to be pulled away by team-mates.

Harlow will need to be sharper when their Ryman League division one north campaign starts at Soham Town in two days' time.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said:

"The goals we gave away were disappointing."

"We should have cleared the first one and for the second one we should have shut down their player."

"They were a good, well-organised side and a lot of their players have played at a higher level."

"We did not keep the ball well enough when we got it back."

He added: "At the end, the expressions on the players' faces said it all. They knew they had not played as well as they could have done."

"We do have to work on a few things."

HARLOW TN: Knowles, Akande, Lavers, Fowler, Williams, Wheeler, Martin, Gliddon, Read, Antoine, Stamp. Subs all used: McKenzie, Thomas, Curley, Hart, May, Marriott, Cole, Dadson.

Bowler ready for English finals

STEVE Mitchinson is set to play in two English national bowls competitions at Worthing in Sussex this month.

The bowler, from Challinors in Harlow, will be playing for Essex in the Middleton Cup semi-final at Worthing on August 24.

This was after Mitchinson was in the Essex team that beat Norfolk 107-101 at Cambridge Chesterton Bowls Club.

Mitchinson said: "I skipped one of the six rinks with Richard Haley at 3 (who also plays at Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club)."

"Our rink lost by one shot but we won overall over the six rinks."

This followed Essex topping their group, which consisted of Leicestershire, Cambridgeshire, Hertfordshire and Suffolk.

Mitchinson also skipped a Romford triple including Richard Bolton and Lee Chaplin to a 21-15 win in the county triples semi-final at Essex County

Bowls Club in Leigh-on-Sea.

The trio have qualified for the national finals at Worthing on August 15.

Mitchinson said: "We will face a triple from Devon in the first round."

"In the final we are due to play against a triple from Larsens Bowls Club from Waltham Abbey."

Mitchinson also played in the final of the Essex triples for Romford Bowls Club and beat a team from Larsens Bowls Club (Waltham Abbey) 23-5. The game was played at Essex County Bowls club in Westcliff-on-Sea.

The team was made up of Richard Bolton, Lee Chaplin and Mitchinson himself at skip.

"This was the third time I have won the county triples, we will now go and compete in the national (English) finals at Worthing on 15th August - although we had already qualified for this by reaching the final."

Gabriella upbeat after England selection

SEVENTEEN year-old golfer Gabriella Cowley was given a boost after her British Women's Open exit when she was named in the England team this week.

The Harlow teenager, who missed the cut in the British Open last Friday, was named in the England team that are attempting to defend their title at the Girls' Home Internationals at the St Anne's Old Links in Lancashire this week.

Gabriella, of Threshers Bush, was in the successful 2012 England team.

The matches, against Scotland, Ireland and Wales, started yesterday

(Wednesday) and finish Friday (August 9).

England will be targeting their sixth successive win in this event.

Gabriella endured disappointment at the British Open.

She fired a nine over par 81 over the Old Course at St Andrews.

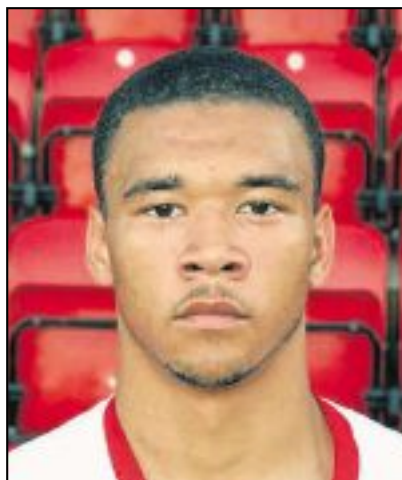

Gabriella's first round was 75 and so she missed the cut for the final two days.

She finished on three over par with a round of 75 on Thursday.

The Harlow golfer was doing well when she was on one under par after 10 holes but she then dropped four shots.

Stacy Lewis won the event. The Texan finished on eight under par.

The competition was the biggest Gabriella has played in so far and she qualified for it after shooting a four-under 68 in the qualifying stages on Monday.

Boss makes move to sign defence duo

DANNY Chapman has strengthened his Harlow Town squad with the signing of two central defenders for their Ryman League division one north campaign which starts this Saturday.

The Hawks will be playing at Soham Town Rangers in two days.

Liam Thomas and Darren Williams are the centre-halves Chapman has signed.

They will be competing with Michael Akande and Christian Wheeler for places.

Thomas has rejoined the club and was at Harlow last season although was injured for most of it. Prior to that, he played under Anthony Anstead at Barrows Farm during the 2009-10 season.

Williams has joined from fellow Ryman League division one north club Cheshunt.

Williams' previous clubs also include Bishop's Stortford and Stevenage Borough.

Chapman said: "Liam is a good player. He was plagued by injuries last season.

"Darren asked if he could come in for a trial during the summer. He has done well and shown a good attitude. I want to give him a chance."

Harlow were second from bottom last season and Chapman is keen that the Hawks make a big improvement.

A top half spot is the bare minimum but Chapman will not set specific goals for the new season at this stage.

He said: "There are just seven players from last season and we have a new team."

"It will take time for them to gel."

He added: "At this stage we do not want to get ahead of ourselves with thoughts of automatic promotion and play-off spots."

"We will see where we are after 10 or 15 games."

Harlow will be without two experienced players in Danny Brown and right back Donny

Barnard for the opening games.

Brown sustained a shoulder injury in a behind closed doors friendly against FFC Haringey 12 days ago.

Deployed as a defender last term, Chapman intends to use him as a central midfielder this season.

Barnard has been troubled with a medial ligament injury for the last three weeks.

Chapman would not comment on whether Ben Hart would fill in at right back in the opener at Cambridgeshire-based Soham this Saturday.

The Harlow boss said: "I have not made up my mind on that yet. I have 18 players and two are set to be disappointed. That is part and parcel of football."

He added: "Soham will be strong as they were last year. We will have to make sure we are right on the day."

Harlow then host newly-promoted Barkingside on Tuesday.

They have come up from the Essex Senior League.

Chapman said: "They will be keen and raring to go."

Osagie ready for mission to Moscow

ANDREW Osagie will be aiming to do even better than he did at the London 2012 Olympics when he competes in the 800m men's event at the World Athletics Championships in Moscow.

The big event in Russia, which starts this Saturday, comes just a year after the Harlow Athletic Club member excelled to reach the 800m final in London.

Osagie, pictured, was last and clocked a personal best (PB) of 1:43.77.

Rudisha is out injured but Osagie will need to do better than he has done this year.

The 25-year-old has been troubled by a hamstring strain and his best outdoor time this season was in a Diamond League meeting at Doha in May.

Osagie came 8th when he clocked a time of 1:45.41.

Nat Fisher, a much respected HAC coach, helped Osagie a lot when he coached him in his teenage years.

Fisher said: "Andrew is very grounded and he knows what he wants to do."

"Injuries can be a mind thing and as long as that is not in his mind, he has a chance."

He added: "As long as he is physically right he can do well."

Osagie's coach Craig Winrow stressed that he must not be distracted by the absence of world record holder Rudisha.

"Just because Rudisha is not there does not mean it's going to be an easy thing," said Winrow. "Andrew was the European number one last year and he needs to stay there."
